

“Find Knowledge to Start the Process of Change.”

"I have been spending money since I started my business and not making profits. I attended one of Florence's trainings. I felt the connection right away. She understood my situation because she has been there and knew how to solve my problem. I used her money blocks removing affirmation video along with her coaching. My thoughts and beliefs about money have change and I am making profit in my business." ~ Ramiro Anthony

FLORENCE KARP originated from Nigeria where she graduated from the Institute of Education University of Benin, located in Nigeria. In addition to being a high school teacher for 20 years, she was the owner of a fashion and catering business.

Florence decided to come to America in search of the American dream. Since coming to America, she has worked as a staffing coordinator for a health care company for 7 years, became a mortgage broker and owned a mortgage business for 6 years. When the mortgage market crashed, she joined a business network where she started her personal development training. These trainings gradually transformed her life.

This transformation inspired her to write her “My Choices” eBook and audio book in order to share her newly acquired knowledge and experiences with the world. All of her friends, family members and associates who read her book wanted her to show them how to apply the information from the book to their own lives. When she started to share this information with those interested readers; they began to give her positive feedbacks, which made her so happy, fulfilled and inspired to do more. This allowed her to discover that her divine gift was more connected to the path of healing others.

She decided to become a certified life coach, NLP Practitioner and the Law of Attraction Practitioner in order to empower women in particular to rise above life challenges.

In order to achieve this goal of empowering women, Florence started an online business called “Prosperity Conscious Women” which consists of a 7 sessions transformation program titled “You Too Can Get Rich” which is designed specifically for women.

She found out that majority of the women she serves, who are minority African American immigrants, are skeptical about the use of the internet because of online safety issues, in addition to their personal life challenges. Others do not know how to use a computer or access the Internet at all. Some just prefer the traditional “Face-to-Face” classroom training as opposed to digital technology. Due to their digital challenges, these women prefer a hard copy of her book and audio CD instead of the downloadable audio book or eBook.

Her mission now is to work with organizations, educational institutions, minority immigrants agencies, corporate executives and women entrepreneurs who are seeking new directions in life and business, to rise above their challenges through her workshops and seminars.

To learn more about Florence Karp’s coaching, My Choices book, programs & Motivational Speaking topics, please visit: www.Florenckarp.com